DRIVE TO BACK HOME BUILDERS OF GLENDALE STARTS

Urgent Need of Money to Finance House; Required by New Citizens, Is Presented by Southern California Metropolitan Loan Association.

TO SPEND $10,000 MONTHLY

Big California Association, Whose Branch Office in Glendale Is Crowded With Applicants for Loans, Declares Every Dollar Raised in This City Will Remain in First Mortgage Loans on Residences

Answering the call of the emergency presented in financial circles of the city for money to loan on home construction in Glendale, the Southern California Metropolitan Loan association, a long name for an association for building loan operations that has been established for the last thirty-four years, began today an intensive campaign for funds in Glendale, pledging itself to invest every dollar received in first mortgages in this city. It is after a minimum of $10,000 investments a month.

More than a hundred thousand dollars have been asked of the association on good loans by applicants who wish to build homes in this city. They have been held in abeyance temporarily, in some instances, until it is seen what part the people of the city wish to play in the community upbuilding.

This is the first campaign of the kind the association has ever undertaken. It has its inception entirely in the building situation in Glendale.

Quiet inquiries and observations of the operations of local financiers and business men has led the association to believe that the time is ripe for the rallying of all the forces of finance in the city to one pool, which, turned into the operations of the local organization of the state-wide corporation, would guarantee the home office in joining with local investors in taking the loan situation in Glendale under intensive development.

As a result, the drive starts today for the solicitation of every man and woman in Glendale who believes in the city and its future, who has a dollar laid aside, to turn it into the association, at the interest rate guaranteed under the pledge of the association and its local advisory board, all well-known Glendale property holders, that every dollar subscribed as an investment in the association will be turned back into brick and mortar, in homes here in Glendale, and, in addition, the stronghold of the home office in Los Angeles will be opened in just such proportion of investment as the local situation demands.

Campaign of Education

The first few days of the campaign will be devoted primarily to education as to the association which is making the drive.

The opening gun in this element of the work was delivered today at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, in a brief address by S. L. Roland, general manager, from the home office in Los Angeles, whose home is in Verdugo Woodlands, and who will be at the local office of the company, 113 West Broadway, throughout the drive.

Mr. Roland, among other things, announced that C. M. Weyand would in future be in charge of the local branch of the association and have charge of the drive.

The Southern California Metropolitan Loan association has been in business in California for 34 years. It is backed by some of the strongest men and financial interests of Los Angeles. Its record of clean-cut business is untarnished. The operations of the company are simply those of savings and building loans.

Nature of Securities

"Our securities are in two forms," said Mr. Roland today. "One is the investor's certificate, selling at $100, or multiples of $100. This carries with it a guarantee of 6 per cent, payable January and July. We have never passed a payment in 34 years. The certificate can be cashed in, or the investment withdrawn after one year, with interest, under the regulations, or at any time in actual practice.

"The other form is the membership share. This is payable at $1 a month until the $1 payments, plus earnings, amount to $200. Interest begins with the first installment and continues until the end. Thus, a man who has paid $132 may add the dividend due him at that time and draw out $200, approximately. The record of earnings of the company shows the difference to be the net earning of that sum. These membership shares are non-forfeitable, no penalties are attached to non-payment, and there is no peril to the payments.

"If a man wishes to draw out his money, he may do so and receive his dividends. If withdrawn under the 96th payment, he will receive the full

IRISH PARLIAMENT MEETS AT DUBLIN AMID CHEERS

De Valera Demands Independence or Death in Opening Address to Session

(By International News Service)

DUBLIN, Aug. 16.—"We mean to fight for our principles and we mean to die for them, if necessary," declared Eamonn de Valera, head of the Sinn Fein government in Ireland, in opening the session of Dail Eireann (Sinn Fein parliament) here today.

"Premier Lloyd George told the American soldiers that they were fighting for the principle of independence and that when they came to Europe they were fighting for the liberty of small nations.

"The principles that Lloyd George expressed on that day are ours.

"Dail Eireann will consider the English proposals in private, and then will communicate the decision at a public session."

De Valera declared that Ireland must be a republic.

Negotiations impossible

"It is practically impossible to negotiate with the present British government," he continued, "because it is unprincipled. It is like negotiating with a man with a pistol at your head. We are fighting for human progress and civilization."

Silence was so deep that one could have heard a pin drop while de Valera was speaking. As de Valera ceased, the audience rose to their feet and cheered.

Frank P. Walsh, of New York and Kansas City, occupied a seat on the speaker's platform.

When it came time to sign the roll, after the oaths had been administered, Mike Collins was the first to put down his signature, and Arthur Collins, who sat beside him, signed next, amidst an outburst of cheering.

Michael Collins, commander in chief of the republican army, and several personal friends, were among the earliest arrivals, and they were given a tremendous ovation. Richard Mulcahy, chief of staff of the Irish republican army, slipped in without being recognized.

Ovation for De Valera

But the biggest ovation of all was given to de Valera. The crowd burst into wild cheering when he put in an appearance.

Immediately the spectators in the gallery began cheering, and it was some minutes before quiet prevailed.

The session was called to order at 11 o'clock by Speaker Kelley. After he had taken his seat, prayers were said in Gaelic and the roll was called.

The first name called was "Mr. Anderson," Unionist from one of the North Ireland counties. There was no answer, and the crowd broke into laughter at the thought of a Unionist, the most hostile opponents of the Sinn Fein in Ireland, attending a strictly all-Republican meeting.

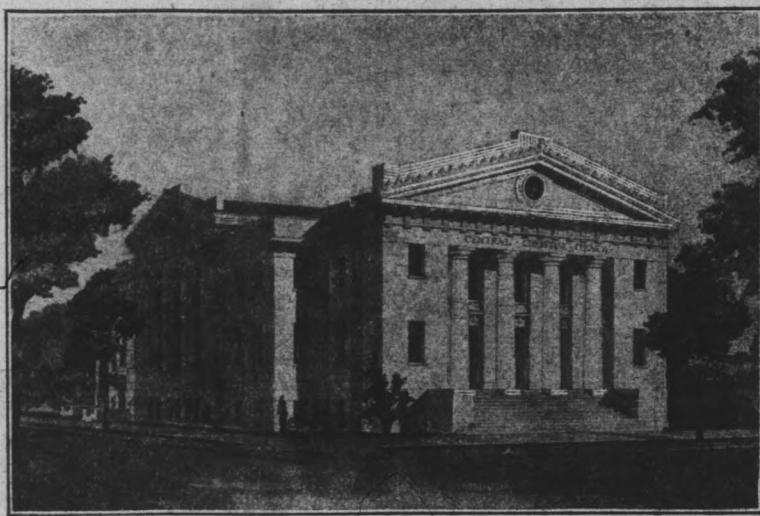

Another name called early in the roll was that of Sir James Craig, premier of the government of Ulster. There was no response. Sir James was in Belfast, far away from the gathering of Republicans.

The clerk called in all 180 names. Of these, 132 were Sinn Feiners and 48 were Unionists. One hundred and twenty-seven Sinn Feiners answered the roll-call.

The deliberative sessions will be conducted in secrecy and nothing will be known as to the Sinn Feiners' decision until after an official communique is issued. It is probable that a communique will not be given out until the parliament has completed its work.

GRADUATE NURSES LODGE AND HUGHES RECEIVE WORDS OF GUIDANCE ARE DISARMAMENT COMMISSIONERS

Young Women of Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital Given Certificates

All the symptoms of graduation of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital School were in evidence at the Seventh Day Adventist Church on Isabel street Monday night. The expectant audience was there filling every pew and every available chair. Fathers, mothers, wriggling children immensely bored but unwilling to miss it for anything; flowers all around the rostrum—huge jars filled with gay, paricolored dahlias and carnations, ropes of fern artfully disposed, the class motto "For Others," carefully worked out with pink asters against a background of greenery, suspended like a banner against the wall, and the front pews filled with white satin ribbon.

At 8 o'clock the processional, "Triumphal March" (R. S. Morrison) played by Mrs. Charles E. Swartzfager at the organ and Mrs. A. Belle Johnson at the piano, heralded the approach of the graduates. First came the under-graduates and other nurses in service at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, in single file down the two aisles of the church, halting when they reached the end of the aisle and turning to face each other across the pews. Down this guardian wall marched the seniors to a place of honor and last came the graduates, in

BRITISH AMAZED BY DE VALERA

LONDON, Aug. 16.—British officials in Downing street were amazed this afternoon when informed by the International News Service of the contents of Eamonn de Valera's speech before Dail Eireann in Dublin, reiterating his demand for an Irish republic and announcing that the Sinn Fein could not negotiate further with the British cabinet. De Valera's speech was interpreted as an apparent rejection of the English peace terms. Officials commented with amazement upon the tenor of the Sinn Fein leader's address. It was regarded as most significant that English soldiers on leave at Farnboro and Aldershot have been ordered to rejoin their regiments immediately.

British are Prepared

The British government is fully prepared to deal instantly with Ireland in the event the peace negotiations collapse, the International News Service was officially informed this afternoon. The government has outlined the following two alternatives in the event the armistice is renounced:

1.—If the Sinn Feiners do not attempt violence Great Britain will institute crown colony rule in Ireland under the home rule law.

2.—If the conflict is renewed all Sinn Fein Ireland will be put under martial law and all civil governments will be abrogated.

Sir Nevil MacBready, commander-in-chief of the British forces in Ireland, will be given a free hand with all the men, guns and equipment he desires.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican leader of the senate and chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, will be a member of the American commission at the coming conference on disarmament and Pacific policies, it was officially announced at the White House this afternoon. Senator Lodge is the second member of the commission to be named, the President having previously announced that Secretary Hughes would head the commission.

FANSETT'S DEATH CAUSED BY BRAKES

This afternoon the county coroner will visit Glendale to investigate the cause of the death of J. Preston Fannett of this city, who lost his life in a motor truck accident on the steep grade of Cahuenga Pass Monday afternoon.

When the sad news first reached Glendale details were not available. It was known that he was driving a heavy truck, that for some unknown cause he lost control of it, that it careened down the road, plunging to wreckage, under which he was buried, at the side of the highway.

Since then those who witnessed his heroic death have told the story of how, instead of jumping to safety, as he might have done, he clung to his wheel, yelling madly to drivers of other motor vehicles, including buses filled with passengers, to warn them of their danger.

Today his broken body awaits burial. But for his sacrifice many might have died or suffered injury worse than death.

PENROSE BILL OPPOSED

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—So widespread has become the opposition to the Penrose bill, concentrating power in the secretary of the treasury to negotiate settlement of the $10,000,000 Allied indebtedness that the administration has given up hope of passage of the bill before the contemplated recess of Congress, it was learned today at the White House. Meanwhile all negotiations with foreign governments concerning their indebtedness to the United States are held up, making it virtually certain that when the world powers assemble in Washington in November they will still be indebted to the United States in large amounts.

ALLEGED RECKLESS DRIVERS

A complaint on the police record this morning, signed by Ruth Ross Reed of 1817 North Sierra Bonita avenue, Los Angeles, stated that a car driven south on Verdugo road last night about 8 o'clock by Stephen Myers of 3333 Elthwaite street, Los Angeles, with no lights burning, smashed head-on into the car she was driving, wrecking one front wheel and the lower windshield.

Harry R. Sisley, 1040 West Seventy-seventh street, Los Angeles, reported to the police that he was driving south on Brand boulevard last night and was forced onto the car tracks by an auto in front of him which failed to give a stop signal. Both of his front wheels were smashed.

Contract for Christian Church Awarded Boyd

Official Board of the Central Christian Church Accepts Plans as Presented by Architect R. H. Orr and Work on New $60,000 Structure Will Start at Once

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE STARTED BY C. OF C.

"I come to you as a stranger, yet not as a stranger but as a neighbor. I come with but one aim in view, and that is to do my best toward the upbuilding of this city." So spoke William H. Reeves, new city manager of the city of Glendale, as the regular business meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in the offices of the organization on West Broadway, at 1 o'clock today.

Mr. Reeves continued: "Glendale has the opportunity of being one of the most powerful cities in Southern California. Indeed, the opportunity along this line is nothing short of wonderful. As an engineer, I have looked over practically every section of your city and I do not hesitate to say that there is no city in Southern California whose streets are better laid out and whose general system of growth from an engineer's point of view are better or even equal to that of Glendale. I realize that I have a big job ahead of me. I want and must have your cooperation, for without it, the city manager's hands are virtually tied. I want to carry out all of the improvement projects that have been started by my predecessors, and to start other and possible greater things along the improvement line. But, gentlemen, I must have your assistance."

Thomas W. Watson, retiring city manager, was then introduced, and responded as follows:

"I certainly do feel grateful for the generous way in which you gentlemen are treating me and for the thought and consideration you are showing me. Ever since I came to Glendale, years and years ago, the people of this place have been more than kind to me, and I am glad to note that this splendid feeling exists even to this time.

"This organization was gotten together years ago with the sole aim of bettering Glendale, and today it is doing more along that line than ever before. I am proud to be a member of such a live organization.

"Let me repeat something that I have said several times, to the effect that if at any time there is anything I can do to assist the incoming city manager, I will be only too glad to do it. Mr. Rhodes is right on the job to give visitors and residents alike information and assistance, but even at that, the new city manager will find he will be called upon many times to aid those who are searching for facts concerning Glendale.

"Some people have said that I am not a good mixer. In the position of city manager, a person does not necessarily have to do a great deal of mixing. But from now on, you will see more of me. My future employment will call for a great deal of mixing. I would suggest that this organization should rally to the support of the new city manager. He needs all of you. Team work is the only thing that will accomplish the big things that are before Glendale."

Judge Herman H. Breidt, vice-president of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce, was the next speaker introduced. He was present in the interest of the extension of the Glendale-Montrose railroad into the Tujunga country.

"The reason I am here," said Judge Breidt, "is to ask your assistance and cooperation in the securing of railroad facilities for Tujunga. It is my opinion that we must work together on this proposition. We need the street railway for the upbuilding of our section and you need it, for by it we will be the recipient of a great deal of trade from Tujunga. With this road in commission Glendale would get the bulk of our trade. There is only one out of the Tujunga valley and that is through Glendale. He can't go to Burbank. So let us work

An epochal meeting of the official board of the Central Christian church was held last evening, when plans for the handsome new church building were recommended to its consideration by the building committee, which had been working on them for nearly a year, in conjunction with the architect, Robert H. Orr, of Los Angeles, himself a member of the Christian church.

Original Plans Modified

The original plans had to be modified somewhat from the previous design, but the changes do not alter the outward appearance of the building, which, when completed, will look exactly as the cut accompanying this article shows it. The outer walls will be of frame and stucco instead of reinforced concrete; the basement will not be extended under the old portion except just enough to provide for a kitchen and serving room, and the folding doors will be different from those originally designed. The interior arrangement above the basement, the roof plan, heating and ventilating system, will be exactly as at first planned.

W. G. Boyd, a well-known and highly esteemed gentleman, is the contractor, and he will commence the work in a few days.

Church Has Lots

The Church now owns three lots at the corner of Louise and Colorado streets, having added two since the present building was erected in 1908. (Continued on page 6)

"GLENDALE NIGHT" AT BROWN MEETING

Friday will be "Glendale Night" at the John Brown evangelistic meetings which are being held in Los Angeles. The church folks of this city are expected to turn out in force and show Rev. Brown that the friends he made here during his two campaigns have not forgotten him. Instructions to those who are intending to go, are to meet at the corner of Vernon and McKinley avenues, Los Angeles, at 7:30 o'clock. A section will be reserved for Glendale and local boosters are expected to fill it to overflowing. The San Pedro car, taken at the Sixth and Main streets station, passes the corner of Vernon and McKinley.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION MEETS

The executive board of the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher association met at the home of the president, Mrs. May Rosenberg, 462 Riverdale drive, Monday afternoon, to discuss the work of the coming year and the appointment of chairmen of the various departments.

Present were Mrs. William Farland, vice-president; Mrs. Wilbur Adams, secretary; Mrs. George L. Moore, treasurer; Mrs. Mark Russell, historian; Mrs. L. P. Tronsler, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Fannie O. Stone, principal of the school.

At the close of the session refreshments were served by the hostess.

TARIFF REVISION FOUGHT

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Charging that the tax revision bill prepared by the Republican majority of the House ways and means committee fails to give relief to the "poorer class of taxpayers," the Democratic members of the committee voted solidly against the reporting of the bill today. The bill was formally reported out by the Republican majority.

ALL AMERICANS RELEASED

(By International News Service) LONDON, Aug. 16.—All the American prisoners are now out of Russia, according to advices received today.

The first prisoner to be released more than a fortnight ago was Mrs. Marguerite Harrison of Baltimore. Last week six more Americans crossed the Russian border and arrived at Reval.

DAMAGED

FATE "LUBRICATES" HEART CYLINDER OF JILTED ONE

(By International News Service)

DENVER, Aug. 16.—Miss Lucille Nemic, pretty Denver girl, forgot all about her broken heart and the $25,000 "balm" required to mend it when she "struck it rich" in Oklahoma oil lands, and secured dismissal of a breach of promise suit against J. Howard Stark, wealthy Denver jeweler.

The suit was dismissed by Judge J. C. Morley, in district court, upon the plaintiff's agreement to pay all court costs.

Miss Nemic filed her suit against Stark early in 1920, and a flutter of excitement followed in smart social circles here when she admitted, during the course of a preliminary hearing, that she had been "friendly" with several prominent Denver men besides Stark. She denied, however, that this "friendship" was other than platonic.

Questions asked by Stark's attorneys in the preliminary hearing indicated that sensational testimony involving persons socially prominent might have been expected if the suit had come to trial.

Recently, it is reported, oil in valuable commercial quantities has been discovered on lands in Oklahoma owned jointly by Miss Nemic and her parents, and the pretty plaintiff decided to abandon her chase for heart-balm—and the accompanying punitive damages.

Attorneys for Stark declared there had been no "outside settlement" with Miss Nemic.

Beware of Dudes and Jellyfish, Says Padre

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—"Don't marry a dude—a jellyfish—a tyrant—a pig—a Poll parrot—a hypocrite—a despiser of religion, or a bump on a log."

This is what the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Shreve, pastor of McKendree Methodist Episcopal Church, tells young women about to be married.

"Look for good nature, noble purpose, sympathy, industry, courage, intelligence, perseverance and a big heart full of love to God and man and you. Be sure you choose the right man. The Bible says: 'God made man upright, but they have sought out many inventions. You want to get one of the kind that God made and not one of the inventions. There are a great many more of the inventions than there are real men, and it is not always an easy matter to distinguish them. They dress like men, talk like men and look like men, but when their inner traits of character and their habits of life begin to appear, they are seen to be inventions.'"

To Young Men

To the young man Dr. Shreve gives one word of advice—"Marry."

"It is not good for man to be alone. Every man fit to have a wife ought to marry. Be sure you are right, then go ahead. And I sometimes quote to him the following from Jeremy Taylor: 'If you are for pleasure, marry; if you prize rosy health, marry; a good wife is heaven's last best gift to man; his angel of mercy; minister of graces innumerable; his gem of many virtues; his casket of jewels. Her voice his sweetest music; her smile his brightest day; her kiss the guardian of innocence; her industry his surest wealth; her economy his safest steward; her lips his faithful counselors; her bosom the softest pillow of his cares; and her prayers the ablest advocates of heaven's blessings on his head.'"

Avoid Silly Woman

"Don't marry a silly woman. Don't marry a gossip, a busybody, a gad-about, a butterfly, nor an inveterate talker. Don't marry a pair of eyes. There should be a good deal more to a wife than that. Seek a woman who has some idea of the purpose of a woman's life—a lover of home and children and God; and one who believes you are the one man for her husband."

"And I say to them both: Establish a home of your own. You may not be able to purchase a house, but in a rented room or two you can have your home—your nest. Have no outsiders in it unless it be an aged or dependent person, in which case there should be an understanding beforehand. 'Home is a little hollow scooped out of the windy hill of the world, where we can be shielded from its cares and annoyances.'"

"Then you will have to learn to live together. Remember that you are alike in one respect only, i. e., your love for each other. Possibly in every other respects you are very different."

Harmonizing these differences in such a manner as to strengthen love instead of wrecking it is a fine art. Much unhappiness and numerous divorces have occurred at this point. Suddenly realizing the presence of hitherto unnoticed traits, the man or the woman, or both, sometimes fly into a panic, conclude that they have made a mistake, speak hot words and separate. The divorce mill then grinds up love's sweet dream, and nothing but ashes remains. There is no need for this, if you will be patient with each other's faults, respect each other's rights and tastes, forgive each other's sins and study each other's needs you will soon be welded together with bonds of mutual understanding and sympathy and love.

Pull Together

"You must pull together for one goal. If a woman wants a separate career for herself she ought never to marry. After marriage she should enter heart and soul, body and mind into the career of her husband. He has no time to run two establishments, nor to have a divided mind. He must pursue his chosen calling in life, and he has married her for a helpmate. If you ever have a quarrel, see which can be the first to make up. Never divulge each other's weaknesses. Keep up your honeymoon. Take trips together. Read books together. Sing, play, work and pray together."

"Begin to make plans for the coming of the children—the crowning blessing of the home. Brighter than the wedding morn, happier than the honeymoon are the birthdays of the children. No home can ever be complete without them. They are the flowers in the garden of love. 'Happy is the man that hath his quiver full of them.' Love will grow as the children come, and the laughter of the little ones will furnish the sweetest music for happy married life."

BUILDING PERMITS

August building permits are very close to the total of $250,000 today and may reach it before night. Owing to errors of addition in the public works department at the city hall, the August total was understated and that for 1921 thus far were overstated in yesterday's issue. Up to noon today the total for the month was $242,205, and for the year, $2,561,129. Permits issued since yesterday noon are as follows:

Spencer Robinson, store building, Low Bldg Co.	$4,150
T. J. Fambrough, 5 rooms, 230 South Columbus	3,000
F. K. Erzenbacher, 5 rooms and garage, 515 West Elk, McPherson and Nelson	2,800
Emilio Ramelli, 2 rooms and garage, 623 West Elk	500

SALE OF LAND TO THE JAPS IS MENACE TO NATION

(By International News Service)

FORT COLLINS, Col., Aug. 16.—Declaring that there is danger that the white race in America may be driven from the land by Japanese, in the same manner as the whites displaced the Redmen, Professor Thomas Nixon Carver, Harvard economist, made a plea here for restriction of Japanese immigration into this country.

Professor Carver lectured here under the auspices of the Summer school of the Colorado Agricultural College, taking for his subject "International Competition in Farm Products."

"The Indian, in most instances, was not driven off his land by force," Professor Carver said, "but sold his land to the white man and moved on, as the land was of greater value, economically to the energetic whites than to the indifferent Indians."

When one race can live so much more cheaply than another that it can afford to pay more for the land it will gradually acquire the land and the other race will move off, according to Professor Carver. "With this condition already offering a problem in California," he said, "there is nothing to prevent us going the way of the Indian for the Japanese farmer can do the same to the white farmer that the whites did to the Indians years ago and cultivate the land much more economically, thus forcing the whites to 'move on.'"

"Something must be done immediately to restrict Japanese immigration," the professor concluded. "And it is just as well to observe our 'line fences,' as we can be more peaceable neighbors if we do this."

Professor Carver urged the necessity of an amicable agreement between the United States and Japan that would restrict immigration of Japanese into this country.

To invest all of the money paid in for The Association's Operations Under the construction of the state banking laws of California, building loan associations are forbidden specifically to call themselves such, or to use the word "savings" in its advertisements.

It has no stock to sell. It has only memberships to offer. These memberships carry with them the right to participate in the direction of the association.

Under its organization it is required memberships in loans for home building exclusively, on first mortgages. The association is authorized to loan up to 75 per cent of the total amount required. Its investments begin before the building is erected. It does not build and sell, for there is no speculation in its operations. It loans the money and the borrower does his own building. It has no special contractors. Its loan field is open to all comers.

RECEIVER FOR U. S. MAIL LINE (By International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Arthur J. Baldwin was today appointed receiver for the United States Mail Steamship Co., in the bankruptcy proceedings brought against the company. The appointment was made by Judge Manton in the United States district court. Baldwin's bond was fixed at $50,000.

EVANSTON NAILS GO AUTO RIDING, SO DRIVERS SWEAR

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—There is a great magnetism about Evanston, Ill., fashionable suburb of Chicago. So great is the magnetism that it threatens to take the clapboards off its houses and tires off its automobiles and to make it the center of scientific research, to say nothing of a market for hardware.

Street Commissioner Brown, of Evanston, recently learned of this phenomenal quality while sitting at his desk.

He answered the telephone to hear an irate voice demand:

"I want somebody sent here to take care of these nails."

Mr. Brown informed the caller that he was talking to the Street Commissioner's office, not to a beauty parlor, but the voice kept on:

"I'm down on the Central street bridge and the nails are sticking out all over it. I have four pounds of spikes in my tires."

Then call after call. Mr. Brown had no rest. From all points along the town's sanitary canal came new stories of the strange eruption of nails. A street inspector was sent out with a sledge hammer to take care of the nails.

"I can't make it out," he reported back to the chief. "At first I thought the heat caused the nail explosions by expanding the planking in the bridges. Then it seemed quite likely that the owls, starving to death because of the recent failure of the owl-food crop in these parts, have taken to pulling the nails."

"Of course, it may be a magnetic storm—or maybe the automobiles shake them out in passing over the bridges."

So Evanston is debating the advisability of sending for an electrician, a bird catcher or a carload of bolts.

It is all very well to place dried blood on the free list, but we should have some restriction on importations of mongrel blood.

DAMAGED

"DID THE SUN STAND STILL?" TOPIC OF DR. F. L. RILEY

Taking the thought found in Joshua, 10:13, that "the sun stood still," Dr. F. L. Riley delivered one of the most interesting, instructive and scientific lectures at Masonic Hall Sunday morning during his five years connection with the New Thought Center of this city.

Dr. Riley stated that "Joshua was a wonderful character, and there are many beautiful lessons to be learned from his life."

"Moses was a great man, but he was not sufficiently strong or courageous to cross the Jordan and take possession of the Promised Land."

"Joshua was the chosen man of God. He slew the five giants and it was for him that the sun stood still."

"Allegorically considered, the five giants, or five kings, are the five senses. It is our sense or animal nature which holds us in bondage. When we master the lower nature we cross the Jordan and come into our spiritual birthright. But it is a great fight, for the lower nature will not submit without a struggle."

"The sun is the symbol of the life and light of God. Just so long as we trust God (good) and have no fear, our sun will not set. In other words, God will be with us and we will have all the light necessary."

"The red woman" is synonymous with error: "Kings," the five senses: "freedom," Moses: "bondage." Egypt: "Ark," the presence of God in the soul: "feet," "salt," "sea," quality, matter; "still water," spirit; "milk and honey," an abundance of all good things.

The characters enumerated in the Bible from Adam to Jesus are stepping stones, states of the soul's evolution.

Many of the stories found in the Bible originated thousands of years before the time of Jesus and can be found in the oldest language extant, the Sanskrit, the language of India.

The information secured from the interpretation of the Egyptian hieroglyphics, the uniform writings and the recently discovered Rosettistone, throw much light on the esoteric meaning of the Bible.

When the "kings" (five senses) maintain mastery, "the sun does not stand still." When we, with Joshua, are able to slay the five "giants" (senses) we will be enabled to "cross the Jordan and take possession of the Promised Land."

NEW FURNITURE STORE

A. V. Ansley, of Portland, Ore., will open a furniture on East Broadway near Maryland, in the near future. Mr. Ansley, although a newcomer in Glendale, has had years of experience in the furniture business. During the past few years he has held important positions with some of the largest furniture companies in Portland. He will handle both new and used furniture.

When you see a girl with a face like that in the movies, you are safe in assuming that the producer is trying to put over one of his relatives.

The inspired composer who called knights of the road "traveling salesmen," wasn't so far wrong, at that.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe To Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Husbands Wear Out Say Insurance Men

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Dr. H. F. Biggar, physician to John D. Rockefeller, threatens to play golf with his famous patient in their hundredth year. We say "their" advisedly, since both men are now eighty-two years of age, and the doctor says there is no good reason why they both shouldn't reach the century mark.

"Anyone who follows his sensible way of living can live to be a centenarian," says Dr. Biggar of Mr. Rockefeller.

"He can eat anything, but he observes one of the prime laws of health to eat moderately. His good sense tells him that moderation in diet is a prerequisite of endurance."

Golf, mathematical games, early to bed and early to rise—these are the rules of the great financier's simply-lived life.

But what are his chances or those of any other man or woman to live to be a hundred?

Is woman's chance better, or worse than man's to reach a ripe old age? Investigation shows some startling facts. For instance:

Women with husbands die earlier than spinsters.

Married women who, buy insurance and choose husbands as their beneficiaries are considered poor risks.

These facts have been called to our attention by a high official of a well-known insurance company, who says regarding longevity.

Insurance Expert Gives Facts

"Well-regulated, outdoor life, with a fair amount of exercise, seems to be a good rule to follow. In general, people who have adhered to such a mode of life have found Horace's 'golden mean' in all things. They choose everything in moderation."

"In the 'United States Life Tables,' drawn up from the census of 1919, taking note of the deaths of 1909-1910-1911, the women show up very favorably."

"Let's look at the tables of 'Expectation of Life,' which means the average number of years lived beyond a certain age."

"This 'expectation of life' in women whose lives were followed up from the age of ten years, was fifty-four years, while for men it was fifty-one."

"Taken on from twenty-five years, the average 'expectation' of men was thirty-nine years, and in the cases of women it was forty-one. This means that the average man would live twenty-five plus thirty-nine years, and the average woman would live twenty-five plus forty-one years."

"Taken at forty-five, men may expect to live on twenty-four more years, the women twenty-five. The female is still in the ascendant."

"When sixty is reached, the three-score years, our average male has fourteen more years to look forward to, and the woman still fifteen. I am leaving out the small fractions; nevertheless, woman is still ahead, when the seventy-five mark is reached, if only by a fraction. Otherwise we count seven years yet to be lived by both males and females, not forgetting the small additional time for women."

Why Women Have Best Chance

"How do we account for women being ahead? Well, perhaps less exposure to the hardships and accidents of life, less chance of violent deaths. Now we come to insurance statistics."

"The Medical Actuarial of Mortality, Investigation, published in 1918, deals with the deaths of insured lives and shows mortality rates among the various classes as compared with the average mortality of the country."

"The number of deaths among women is 104 per cent of what they would be if the mortality of women had been the same as the average mortality for all 'risks' or for the total class."

"That is, for every one hundred deaths, counted among general policy holders, we would get one hundred and four among women."

"Spinsters, the term covers all unmarried women, have a low rate, 81 per cent."

"There are two classes among the married women. First come the women whose husbands are to be the beneficiaries. They lead in the highest of deaths, 126 per cent. The other class, composed of those who have beneficiaries other than their life partners, have a rate of 114 per cent."

"Among widows, both real and divorced women, the rate is 105 per cent."

"Women with husbands seem to die quicker, than those without."

"Mortality among women, there a great deal by what insurance people force, seems to have been influenced term 'self-selection.'"

"Where the 'insurable intent' is weak, the reasons for taking out insurance by those who buy it are actuated by reasons other than necessity for such protection."

"The married woman not earning her own living, supported by her husband, will be accepted for only a small amount of insurance."

"She generally insures because she hasn't good prospects for longevity."

"Men who must get insurance to provide for those left after them get it whether or not they think they will live long, regardless of health or lack of it."

"In the occupational life, Protestant clergymen lead the longest lives. As an old friend of mine said of their longevity and reluctance to die, 'they point the way to others, but show little haste themselves.'"

"Another good group is the farmers, not the laboring agriculturists, but the proprietor farmers."

"In England this class is an especially long-lived one."

"Mortality Among Drinkers"

"People interested in different aspects of prohibition frequently like to show a higher rate of mortality among drinkers than abstainers. By drinkers, I refer to the regular drinkers, not the men who get spells of drunkenness, but the 'good fellow' who takes a little all the time."

"The total abstainers and the three-to-four-drinks-a-day fellow differ in other respects than their bibulous habits. The 'good fellow' very likely has irregular habits of life. He eats at odd hours and neglects to get enough sleep. It is hard to determine how much of his condition is due to drink and how much to other causes which go with his type of nature."

Among the group of "moderationists" to which Mr. Rockefeller evidently belongs, are also Chauncey K. Depew, who recently celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday by working at his office. The well-known statesman once told me of the simplicity of his daily life and of his diet. John A. Stewart, who in his ninetieth year works at his desk in a Wall street bank, is likewise of the abstemious nature. He motors to work, stays downtown a few hours, partakes of a bread-and-milk lunch and goes home early.

Julia Ward Howe and Harriet Beecher Stowe were long-lived and industrious women. Their later years were anything but empty, and today we have the renowned Bernhardt, marvel of the world, aged and crippled, but still upon the stage.

list of Glendale exhibitors but I know it will include:

"A. W. Huskins, of Vine street, who will show bantams and White Wyandottes."

"T. S. Caldwell of 335 West Broadway will show Rhode Island Reds and Japanese Silky Bantams."

"B. M. Billings of Brand and Windsor Road will also show Reds. He is a comparatively recent comer from Ohio and has some fine stock."

"W. W. Stofft, of Stocker and Pacific, will have a nice showing of Buff Leghorns."

"Miss Jessie Caddis, who is on Dryden near Louise, has Bluefaced, Rhode Island Reds and Rose Comb Anconas, which she will probably show."

"Gill & Warrick, on Glendale and Madison Court, will show their specialty, Barred Rocks."

"Leslie C. Dennman, on Madison Court, will send White Wyandottes and bantams."

Fine Bantams

Dr. Royce, who specializes in bantams and has twenty varieties, said he would have a representative display of his stock. Those small poultry raisers who might be inclined to send birds, if they could know what would be acceptable, should call him up at his Los Angeles office, telephone 66441. He will be glad to inspect their flocks and pick out birds suitable for the show ring.

HIGH SKIRTS MEAN EXTRA REVENUE IN BULGARIA

LONDON, Aug. 16.—If you want to be a belle or a swell in the city of Rusechuk you have to pay for it.

You may remember Rusechuk from the war news. It is a flourishing town on the Bulgarian side of the Blue Danube. The Rumanians crossed the river and took it one day. Two or three days later the Bulgarians cut off the fresh Rumanians and killed or captured all except a few who escaped by swimming back to the Rumanian side.

Now many of the best society folks in Rusechuk wish the Rumanians had the town forever. They see no fun in blue laws that force them to pay heavy taxes for wearing anything but overalls and gingham and threaten to convert Rusechuk's most stylishly-dressed women into milkmaids, so far as clothes are concerned.

The former government of the Province of Rusechuk has just enacted new legislation, telling the city folks in Rusechuk how to dress and how to act. The former majority says that it is only trying to discourage extravagance and make the town dandies, male and female, bear the cost of government. The Rusechuk city folks say the new dress edict is only one episode in the fight between the peasant farmers of Bulgaria and the middle class of the cities, a peculiar form of warfare that followed the signing of peace and resulted in the establishment of a peasant cabinet under Premier Stambouliski, a burly farmer.

A Rusechuk girl may wear her skirts as short as she pleases—if she has the mazzina. But every girl whose skirt stops thirteen inches from the ground must pay 500 leva into the provincial treasury. After she has paid the 500 leva the sky is the limit, so far as the length of her skirt goes.

If she carries a parasol she must pay fifty leva. Handbags are even more immoral and render the possessor liable to a tax of 200 leva. Earrings and necklaces, publicly worn, cost a tax of 300 leva. There is no tax on an ordinary wedding, but the gay couple that start married life with music at the altar must pay 500 leva. Even a baby carriage is a luxury in the eyes of the Rusechuk farmer legislators, and the owner must pay 200 leva.

The horny-handed, Rusechuk soil tillers see no reason why anyone should wear gloves, except to keep the hands warm. It is, therefore, provided that any person sporting gloves, between the dates of April 15 and September 15 must obtain a special license, costing 200 leva. To swank about with a cane you must pay 100 leva, and there are still higher taxes for carrying watch chains or wearing finger-rings. The possessor of a pet dog is taxed 500 francs, and owners of private carriages or motor cars pay from 500 to 1,000 leva.

The city dwellers are trying to have the legislation repealed. They say it is only designed to place the whole burden of taxation on the shoulders of the town folks. They say that if the Rusechuk provincial legislature is sincere it will pay a heavy tax on swearing, drinking, and wife-beating—virtues, according to the city dwellers, particularly characteristic of the Rusechuk farmers.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE STARTED BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

together for what benefits our communities individually will be mutually beneficial to us."

This will terminate with the dedication of the new Chamber of Commerce building on Brand boulevard, which is expected to take place some time in October. E. F. ALLEGED BEAT WIFE

Mrs. Elizabeth Green charged her husband, Luther Green, with beating her severely yesterday morning, because she remonstrated with him for "throwing away money by gambling and attending lewd shows." They live at 530 West Harvard. Before Judge Lowe today, Green was released on his own recognizance, to appear for a preliminary hearing later.

WAR IN ALBANIA

ROME, Aug. 16.—A "miniature war," but one of great violence, was reported today to be raging between the Serbians and Albanians in Northern Albania and the southeastern corner of Montenegro.

According to information from Soutari, 2000 Serbian regulars, supported by guerilla bands, made an attack against the Albanians along the left bank of the Drin river. The Albanians, reinforced by a large section of the population, put the Serbians to flight.

The Serbian "black hand" soviets are reported to be continuing their activities, especially in the Ruka and Toherine districts, with the idea of destroying any nationalist movement on the part of the Albanians.

AUSTRALIA STUDIES AMERICAN RAILWAY MANAGEMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—The government-operated railroads of Australia are turning to the United States for instruction in railroading.

This was revealed with the arrival of five prominent Australian railway men to make an intensive study of American ways of handling materials and supplies, with a view of installing a similar system in their own railways on their return. Four of them represent the Victorian railways, with headquarters at Melbourne, and the fifth is with the New South Wales government railways. The visitors are: C. W. J. Coleman, chief storekeeper; M. J. Canny, outdoor superintendent; G. H. Wion, assistant engineer of signals; H. Sergeant, stores branch officer, all of the Victorian railways, and W. A. Clarke, controller of stores, of the New South Wales government railways.

The Southern Pacific company's system of handling supplies and materials, distributing supplies through the medium of a supply train, and the salvaging of worn and broken materials for further use has been selected for the study planned by the Australians. They will spend about eighty days in the work of inspecting the Southern Pacific store departments and in going over various parts of the Pacific system. They will be taken to the Oakland and Sacramento stores and will be passengers on the company's supply train.

In advising the Southern Pacific company officials of the visit of the Australian officials, Harold W. Clapp, chairman of the board of commissioners for the Victorian railways, explained the purpose of the officials as follows:

"We are not sending these officers on a tour of America, Great Britain, or any other country. We are sending them primarily to California to sit down on your system there for a sufficient period to carry out the complete organization, installation and operation of your service and supply system."

G. H. Wion, assistant engineer of signals, is an American, formerly with the Pennsylvania railroad. All the others are Australians. Coleman, chief storekeeper, has the same position as a vice-president of an American railroad and is appointed by the Australian parliament.

WILL SOLVE PROBLEM

The drive for the consolidation of investment funds to back the growth of Glendale started today by the Southern California-Metropolitan Loan Association is the outstanding feature of the almost alarming increase in the city's population.

In its essentials it does not call for a relocation of funds now in savings banks. It does call for a portion of savings and earnings to be placed in the distribution system of the association for placement about Glendale, so that the growth may be made continuous, easy and without interfering with the access to cash and credits essential to the merchants of the city in order that they themselves may be able to expand in accordance with the business of the city.

Fundamentally the drive is an appeal for cooperation of all for the benefit of all, on the basis of a record of efficiency and economy of administration and profit.

To duplicate the work of the association in Glendale would require the organization of an office and canvassing machinery. It would need an investment in overhead before an investment could be made. And the amount of the investments so made would be restricted by the amount already spent in overhead. Unquestionably it would be a success—but its success would be delayed and hampered by the preliminaries required.

The Southern California-Metropolitan Loan Association has its organization, its funds, its personnel, its experience and its system of distribution of money invested, all demonstrated, tested and proved by time. It can lend now. It does lend now. It needs only an increase of money to make it increase the amount loanable. This is purely automatic.

Furthermore, it is located in Glendale, is Glendale supervised and has the element of speculation and risk eliminated.

AFTER TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS

Old "999" steamed into Chicago the other day to attend the "Pageant of Progress." A proud "little lady" she is, and well might she vaunt her achievements. It has been 28 years since she hung up a record of 112.5 miles an hour, and not since, with all the new improved locomotives, has that record been beaten. Many people will recall those days nearly three decades ago when No. 999 was the marvel of the railroads, making her daily run between New York and Albany on the New York Central lines. Several years ago the fickle public lost interest in this steam star of the first magnitude—No. 999 was given a new number and relegated to an easier run on a plug road in Pennsylvania. But even this come-down did not daunt her spirit, and her old engineer stuck by her, pulling her throttle on her daily run over the plug line. Her endurance recently attracted attention and many men, even in railroad circles, were surprised to learn a few months ago that old "999" was still doing valiant service. As an exhibit at the "Pageant of Progress" she was a worthy number and, though the wise folks say engines cannot feel, there will be some foolish mortals who will see this grand old lady in action in Chicago and assert most vehemently that she is a proud and haughty mistress of the rails.

Therefore, since cooperation of the citizens of Glendale must come as the result of frozen credits in banking that afflicts the country, and every dollar must do a dollar's work every day, the drive is in accordance with the psychology of the hour.

After all, is the disarmament conference really only a federal court of bankruptcy and the invitations only subpoenas directing the guests to answer as to what they are doing with the money which rightly belongs to their creditor—Uncle Sam?

There is nothing which makes a man feel quite so cheap as to be out whizzing along in his new Rigginton-Roarer and meet his employer driving a flivver.

The public would look more kindly on the proposed 3-cent postage rate if that extra cent went to better the service instead of building more warships.

As was to be expected, the bathing suit manufacturers are launching a campaign against rented bathing suits.

The modern bathing suit frequently leads to the divorce suit.

GRAVE AND GAY

The Rider

"In speaking of this bill before congress you mention a 'rider.' What is a rider?"

"A rider," replied Senator Sorghum, "is usually like the postscript in a woman's letter—apparently an afterthought, but in reality the most important part of the communication."

The Unheeded Kicker

"Why don't you assert yourselves as citizens and demand better roads?"

"Friend," replied the suburban citizen, "we're so humbled and subdued that we're thankful if we get a chance to flivver through on roads that aren't paved mostly with broken glass."

Of Course!

That politician

Should be fought

Who dares to boast he

Can't be bought.

Disappointed

"So you went into the country to get 'atmosphere?' How did you like it?"

"Disappointed. Couldn't find a farmer who had a horse named Dobbin, and never heard one of them say 'he back!'"

A Marine Spectacle

A captain of an Atlantic liner was bothered by a woman passenger who was always inquiring about the possibility of seeing a whale. A dozen times a day she besought him to have her called if one hove in sight.

"But, madam," the captain asked her rather impatiently, after long suffering in silence, "why are you so eager to see a whale?"

"Captain," she answered, "my desire in life is to see a whale blubber. It must be very impressive to watch such an enormous creature cry."

Getting in the Last Word.

The Bride's Mother—What's Henry been doing to you now?

The Bride—The worst yet. Every time he calls me up on the telephone he says what he wants to and then hangs up the receiver so I can't talk back to him.

No Strategic Retreating

"Did you ever think of declining to run for another term?"

"Never," replied Senator Sorghum. "It has always looked as if I had a good enough show to be elected to warrant me in sticking to the finish."

Helpful Hints

In Laundering Sheets

Wring them from the side rather than from the end, and objectionable wrinkles along the selvage will be avoided.

A Practical Pin Cushion

Cover a small, fine sponge with loosely woven silk, and sew a loop of ribbon to one corner of it. Pin to your dress when cutting, fitting and sewing. It is so easy to stick pins in it, there can be no temptation to hold these doubly-dangerous little implements in the mouth.

The Useful Onion

Is good not only as a food and for medicinal purposes, but is excellent for removing rust. Rub the rusty article with onion peel and allow the juice to remain on for twenty-four hours. Polish with turpentine, and you will have no trace of rust left.

Elastic as a Curtain Rod

Instead of suspending glass curtains from a brass rod or wire, try suspending them from a piece of white elastic. Cut the elastic about three inches shorter than the width of the window; sew a loop of tape to either end, pass it through the curtain and slip the loops over tacks or hooks attached to the window frame. The curtains will hang evenly and look well if the elastic is stretched sufficiently.

To Prepare Beef Suet

As a substitute for butter in baking cakes, cookies, biscuits, etc., cut the suet into small pieces, and to each pound of suet add one cupful of sweet milk. Bake in a moderately hot oven until the fat can be pressed out. When the fat begins to cool, beat to a cream. It will keep sweet for a long time, and has a rich, nutty flavor.

Mix Fine Flower and Vegetable Seeds

With fine dry dirt, before sowing, and sow sparingly. The plants will need very little thinning and will flourish better.

To Give Life and Beauty to Linoleum

Go over it about once a month with the cooked starch left from the week's washings. It answers the same purpose as varnishing.

To Make a Flat Seam

Use a small nail file for turning under the edges. The file, being rough, keeps the goods from slipping, and turns the edges nicely.

Molasses Cookies

Will be light and tender if the saleratus is dampened and the molasses poured on it, before being added to the flour.

Clasp on a Discarded Corset Garter Is ideal for running elastic through a casing. Sew or draw elastic through the loop, and it slips along the casing.

Use the Kitchen Scissors

For trimming the burnt edges of muffins and cakes, thus saving off the brown part without breaking the rest of the muffin.

To Prevent Solids in a Custard

Such as rice and coconut, from sinking to the bottom, have the baking-dish filled with boiling water until the custard is put in. The heat thus generated begins to cook the egg at once, and prevents the sinking of the heavier parts to the bottom.

A Leaky Aluminum Kettle

Is a good thing to dry silver, as it does not rust the metal. After washing silver, put it in the kettle, first punching several holes in the bottom, and set it in the warming oven to dry.

Keep an Old Crochet Hook

Near your sink where you wash dishes. It is very convenient for cleaning under the handles on kettles and cleaning seams in milk pails.

When the Lining

Of your suit jacket begins to appear threadbare under the arms, instead of unsightly patches make neat silk dress shields and sew carefully over the worn parts. You can also sew a silk belt over the lining at the waistline if it is worn, instead of mending each separate place.

A Tender Meringue

Is made as follows: Beat two whites of eggs until foamy, having first put in a pinch of salt. Add one-quarter teaspoonful baking-powder, and beat until stiff. Beat in gradually two even teaspoonfuls granulated sugar. Heap on a baked pie or pudding, and set in moderate oven until meringue is baked.

Hairbrushes Can be Cleaned

Without wetting them, if corn-meal is rubbed through the bristles for a few minutes. Repeat, if necessary, and shake the brush thoroughly before using.

STUDIO NEWS AND GOSSIP

Ethel Clayton's next Paramount starring picture, "Exit the Vamp," is said to be of a peculiarly interesting domestic type.

Constance Talmadge's next starring picture will have the title "Good for Nothing." The story was written by Anita Loos and John Emerson.

Kathleen Kirkham wears a blonde wig in order to play the "other woman" in "The Happy Ending." May McAvoy's current Realart picture.

Wanda Hawley is enjoying the filming of "The Love Charm." A very timely moonlight beach swimming party is the feature of the picture.

George Melford's production for Paramount, "The Sheik," is well under way. It will afford the best representation of the Arabian desert yet shown on the screen.

Billie Rhodes comes to the surface as the star in a picture called "The Star Reporter." It is her first picture in many months.

Colleen Moore has been selected for the leading role in "The Wallflower," which Goldwyn is preparing to produce. The story is by Rupert Hughes.

Anita Stewart's latest picture, produced under the title of "The Price of Happiness," will go to the screen as "Her Mad Bargain."

Charlie Chaplin's new home is in the Hollywood mountains and overlooks a great expanse of Los Angeles. Charlie is now accused of being a sybarite.

Director R. A. Walsh will film scenes for "The Kindred of the Dust," a Peter B. Kyne story, in the redwood forests of Humboldt county, California.

Theodore Roberts has a strong character role in Ethel Clayton's current picture, "Exit the Vamp." He is a crochety individual in a wheel chair.

Mack Swain has a congenial roll in Charlie Chaplin's latest picture, "The Idle Class." The former Sennett filmmaker is proving to be the best foil Chaplin has ever had.

COMMENT BY OTHERS

THE NEW ARMY POLICY

President Harding's memorandum to Gen. John J. Pershing, chief of staff of the United States army, recently made public, sets forth for the first time in the nation's history a definite military policy. It indicates Washington's conviction—one that accords with those of London and Paris—that future wars will be fought by whole peoples, by citizen soldiers summoned to service at their nation's need.

The regular army, recently reduced to 150,000 in enlisted strength, is to be concentrated in the various corps areas and its officers and men, so far as is practicable, will be utilized in time of peace in the training of national guard and reserve units. But companies, battalions and regiments are to be maintained at all times to their full strength. The old "skeleton army" plan, tried and found wanting these many years, has been thrown overboard at last.

The policy which the president lays down seems hardly likely to meet with much criticism, although it is a soldier's rather than a politician's policy. But we must hope it will now be forgotten.

The United States is not a military nation and could never be converted into one, but it has never thought of preparedness in past years until the time came for action rather than preparation. If this new policy, with its ideal of close cooperation between regulars and guard, can be made a success there will be ground for national self-congratulation.

WHY CATS ARE STILL CATS

The evolutionists and prehistorians are always making themselves unpleasant and making us uncomfortable. Just as we are becoming reconciled to their discovery that our ancestors were monkeys, comes another with the conclusion that really, by rights, our progenitors should have been cats.

John M. Tyler, professor emeritus of biology of Amherst college, has been looking into our beginnings and he thinks that in appearance and structure the cats are much better justified than the apes in aspiring to bipedic pre-eminence, and that on form they should have won the future and made certain the ultimate holding of all meetings of art and learning on the back fence.

But they did not, and the reason is more interesting than the fact. They did not because as cats they were the last word. They were so good that they could dominate the portion of the world in which, as cats, they were solely interested. They were too thoroughly conformed to the environment of their time. They suffered from overadaptation and the resulting limitations.

The apes were not that way. They were not precocious. They fought with their environment and out of the struggle was wrought the ape-man and then man. And the age-long struggle has produced parties and governments. So that we have ground for a reasonable hope, the learned professor says, not of a millennium, but of success in struggle. While cats are still cats.

On the whole, though, it is perhaps just as well that the cats were not constrained by unfriendly environment to become our ancestors. Prehistoric proclivities are hard to overcome. In a world filled with ex-cats there could be no hope of peace.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Glendale Chapter of the American Red Cross is planning an intensive campaign for used clothes for shipment to needy persons in Central and Eastern Europe. This phase of the foreign production program is being conducted in cooperation with the American Friends Service Committee. Nation-wide appeal for contributions of used clothing is being made through The Saturday Evening Post, The Ladies Home Journal, and the Country Gentleman, in which prospective donors are instructed to get in touch with the nearest Red Cross representative or Chapter.

The call is for all kinds of warm and serviceable clothing in good condition, or for materials out of which to make garments. The local Chapter will receive contributions during August, and every interested citizen in Glendale is urged to remember that some garment he can do without may be just The garment that will save the life of some suffering child. Garments for all ages are badly needed. They should be clean and in good repair.

Distribution is made in Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Poland, the Balkans and Baltic States, by the American Red Cross, through its Child Welfare Units, and other distribution machinery, and in Poland, Austria, Germany and Russia, by the American Friends Service Committee. Working in close cooperation with the countries in which both organizations are active, their representatives are careful to avoid duplication of effort.

Clothing may be left at the fire stations on East Broadway and Los Feliz road, and also at 347 North Brand Boulevard.

MRS. H. E. BARTLETT,
Chairman.

Graduate Nurses Receive Words of Guidance

Dr. Holden Speaks

The program which followed will always be a pleasant remembrance not to the graduates alone but to everyone who enjoyed it. Fine music was its chief feature. There was an invocation by William J. Johnson, M. D., a benediction by Pastor W. M. Adams, an address by W. B. Holden, M. D.

One of the most impressive features of the evening was the administration of the Florence Nightingale Pledge by Daisy D. Harris, R. N.

Dr. Holden took for his theme the class motto and showed and contrasted the lives of those who had worked for others and those who had worked for self, as shown on the pages of history, going back to the Bible times of Abraham and Lot, of Joseph and his brethren, of Moses recognized as the type of the law-giver the world around while the Pharaohs are forgotten.

Recalls Historic Nurses

Coming down to our own day he recalled the work of David Livingston, of Florence Nightingale, "Who," he said, "is ignorant of what that beloved name stands for, and who remembers the name of a single general who fought in the Crimean war in which she served?" Dr. Grenfell's splendid choice in forsaking golden opportunities to achieve fame and fortune in the city of New York to minister to the greater needs of the people of Labrador. "Who," he queried, "is unfamiliar with the achievements of this man and who among his classmates or instructors has achieved equal recognition?"

There are three kinds of service, he declared: Intelligent service which brings its measure of reward in official recognition and money; magnanimous service, rendered without thought of reward which brings a larger measure of satisfaction; principle service for which the ultimate rewards are in heaven. Said he: "Our Savior promised ten thousand percent on our investments for others and as a bonus life eternal in which to enjoy it. Our Savior rendered to a fallen world principle service. The only real satisfaction that can come to divinity or to humanity is a life of service for others."

Dr. H. G. Westphal, who presented the diplomas, spoke with respectful appreciation of the preparation these young women had made for their life work, three years of study and then three years in which they had put to the test the things they had learned. The graduates receiving the certificates were:

Emma Lillian Munson, Olive Winfred Evans, Ethel Valena Gyes, Elizabeth Evelyn Buhler, Ila Marie De Camp, Fern Lorella Bostwick, Beattie Jane Gerald, Martha Marie Schuler, Veda Sue Marsh, Hazel Wilma Roberts, Elsie Schmidt Capter, Anna Belle Roberts, Marguerite Louise Unruh, Harriet May Alderson, Mabel Mary Stierwalt, Bessie Mabry Baker.

The musical program included "Serenade" (Titty) played in trio by Mrs. Charles E. Schwartzfager (violin), Edwin J. Moore (cello) and A. Belle Johnson (piano); baritone solo, "Adoramo," by Jess W. Fair; octette, "O, Light Eternal," sung by Mrs. Jess Fair, and Mrs. Francis Leitch, sopranos; Mrs. Retta King Nelson and Olive Adams Worcester, altos; Ralph Rogers and Mr. Elsner, tenors; Jess Fair and Paul Munson, basses. The last number was a violin solo, "Le-gende" (Carl Bohn) played by Verne Isom.

Graduates are Feted

The graduates are enjoying all kinds of festivities this commencement week. Monday night they were guests

REV. W. W. COOKMAN BEGINS FINE HOME

Rev. W. W. Cookman has started the erection of a beautiful home, to cost about $5500, on a lot which he purchased through James W. Pearson, on Louise street just north of Doran. Six months ago the block in which this home is being constructed was vacant. At that time the lots were put on the market and were snatched up by really buyers in a remarkable way. The first home in this block was constructed by Mr. Pearson, and since that time, four homes have been built there, ranging in price from $4000 to $6000. W. S. Caldwell constructed the Pearson residence and also has the contract for the Cookman home.

Mr. Pearson states that the buyers of the various lots in this block who have not constructed homes on their holdings to date, are intending to do so in the very near future, or just as soon as arrangements can be completed. The manner in which this block has been built up is illustrative of how practically all sections of Glendale are coming to the front.

GLENDALE MAKES RECORD ON LINKS

From all indications, H. M. Morton, 114 West Milford street, is right in line for the national and even the international golf championship. "Them's strong words," as they say, but the performance of Mr. Morton on the Griffith park links Sunday morning would seem to back up this unusual assertion.

Mr. Morton was playing a round with Baron Woods and Daniel Kelly, of the Cornwell & Kelly Hardware store. The start was effected quite early so that the players might get over the course before the mid-day hours. Morton sprung the first surprise on the second hole. The distance between the tee and the hole is about 375 yards. On the drive, Morton cleared about 250 yards, and on his second shot he holed out, making the hole in two. The second surprise came at the fifteenth hole. Morton's drive at this hole carried his ball within one foot of the cup, from which point he easily holed out for a two.

This is the first time these two holes have been made in two strokes each in a single day at the Griffith park course. Kelly and Woods, incidentally, came straggling along way back in the rear, but they took their trouncing like men.

of honor at a banquet given by the sixteen members of the class of 1922, which was served at the sanitarium. Dr. W. B. Holden was the toastmaster and Mrs. Daisy D. Harris, superintendent of nurses, was a guest.

Place cards and table appointments for the big five-course spread carried out a rose and green color scheme, and the class flower, rose-colored asters, were lavishly used. Featuring the dessert course was a large cake bearing the legend: "Class of 1921."

Toast responses were made by Mrs. Bessie Gerald and Miss Lillian Munson, president and secretary respectively of the graduating class. During the dinner, James Moore, a member of the seniors, entertained with vocal numbers.

NORMA TALMADGE AT THE GLENDALE

The appearance of Norma Talmadge tonight will be a feature that has been looked forward to by the patrons of this theatre for some time. She will appear in the first of her Selznick Pictures productions, a screen version of the noted drama, "Panthea," by Monckton Hoffe. Miss Talmadge recently severed connections with the Triangle company to appear at the head of her own producing organization under the Selznick banner.

In "Panthea" Miss Talmadge plays a role made famous on the stage in this country by Mme. Olga Petrova. It is a role that gives the young star the best chance of her career to make the most of her emotional powers. The theme of "Panthea" is calculated to hold the interest of all the patrons. The story begins in Russia with Panthea fleeing from the net of the dreaded secret police, who have falsely accused her of being a revolutionist. Escaping to England, she marries a young composer and the greatest situation in the play comes when she sacrifices herself that he may achieve success.

The ninth episode of the feature serial, "The Diamond Queen," with fascinating Eileen Selgwick, will be shown, along with the latest Pathe news reel.

FOX OUTFIT BLOWS IN

They are going to have a windy time up in Sunland today, and perhaps for several days to come. Several motor trucks passed through Glendale this morning en route from Los Angeles to the little sunny section to the north. These were loaded with wind-making machines belonging to the Fox Motion Picture company of Edendale. They consist of a number of engines to which huge propellers have been attached. They are used to create the "gale" during breezy scenes.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat

When you wake up with backache and full misery in the kidney region, it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy.

When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scales and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate giving them an area 150 by 150. The two west lots will be utilized in the new plan. The main building, of entirely new construction, will have a frontage of 94 feet on Colorado and a depth of 85 feet. The old building will be turned one-quarter around, the present west side facing north, and joined to the new part. The entire seating capacity of all the rooms, which can be thrown into one, and the gallery, will be about 1000.

Contract for Christian Church Awarded Boyde

The Building Committee which has worked so long and faithfully on the project, consists of Messrs. Floyd Mercer, W. B. Kirk, John M. Ray, George W. Staub, Lee Kaster, Fred L. Thompson and R. P. Jodon; and Meses. Effie Crawford and E. H. Learned.

The beloved pastor of the church, Clifford A. Cole, who came here from the Compton Heights church in St. Louis, five years ago, has been one of the moving spirits in this new building project, which means so much for the growth and progressiveness of the congregation.

History of Church
The Central Christian church was founded in 1908 by J. W. Utter, now of Corona, who came out to Glendale during a vacation from his duties as assistant pastor of Broadway church, Los Angeles. He found 60 former members of Christian churches in Glendale and Tropic. In a meeting held in the G. A. R. hall, he added 40 to this number and a church was organized, with himself as pastor. A lot, centrally located at Sixth (Colorado) street and Louise, was given to the congregation by A. K. Crawford, now deceased. Joseph P. Shropshire and Samuel L. Borthick, both deceased, added much to the strength of the work.

J. W. Utter served the congregation five years, and then went into evangelistic work. Emmet E. Francis followed him, occupying the pulpit three years. He is now in a most remarkable work at Great Falls, Mont.

On January 1, 1917, Clifford A. Cole was summoned from St. Louis and the Church has prospered wonderfully under his leadership. It was remarked at last night's meeting that his rejoicing will be great when the news is flashed to him at Beaver, Okla., where he will arrive tomorrow on his way to the international convention at Winona Lake, Ind., that the goal he set when he took up the work here and toward which he has worked quietly and unceasingly ever since, is at last in sight.

Church is Alive
Sunday morning at Central Christian Church the Bible school attendance was the largest for the summer, 236. The morning worship hour after communion, was occupied by Mrs. Myrtle Wilson Stipp, who went from Santa Ana as a missionary to the Philippine Islands six years ago.

Speaks of Experiences
She is at home now on a short furlough, accompanied by her husband, but will return to the work next month. She told of her attendance

Mrs. H. A. Hill, daughter of Mrs. Jennie L. Darling, 108 South Everett street, is ill at the home of her mother. Mrs. Hill will return to Colorado Springs in a couple of weeks but is planning to come back to Glendale about Christmas and stay here six months or a year on account of her health.

They recently sold the home at 368 Pioneer Drive to J. M. Slaughter, and are now living at 159 South Central.

One Born Every Fourth Minute

A LADY with a family of three children didn't want any more because she had heard that every fourth child born in the world was a Chinaman.

As ludicrous, perhaps, as an old misconception some skeptical folks used to have about advertising.

There was a time when some advertisements had to be taken with a grain of salt. A few misguided advertisers thought they could sell their goods better by misrepresenting them. Those advertisers have long since gone out of business or mended their ways. Hard experience taught that untruthful advertising didn't pay.

Other advertisers proved that the only way to advertise successfully, make regular customers, and build up good will was to TELL THE ABSOLUTE TRUTH about their goods in their advertisements. You can depend on the merchant or manufacturer who advertises. The concern that tells you frankly what it is doing is a good concern with which to do business. The store that advertises is a progressive store that has something really worth while to say to you. And companies that advertise their products or their service have confidence in them. You can safely share their confidence.
